I hereby submit this article for evaluation and possible publication in the Brazilian Journal of Nutrition, highlighting that the main contribution of the study to the area in which it is inserted is the following:

(Justify why the journal should publish your article, highlighting its scientific relevance, its contribution to discussions in the area in which it is inserted, the point(s) that characterize its originality and the consequent potential to be cited).

Given the competence in the area of study, the name of the following researchers who can act as reviewers of the manuscript are indicated, and I declare that there is no conflict of interest for this indication:

(Authors must indicate three possible reviewers for the manuscript, with their respective e-mails and the institutions to which they are linked).

The manuscript originates from:

- ☐ Dissertations or theses.
- ☐ Authors' institutional research project, with or without funding.
- ☐ Another type of search. Which? _____

I also confirm that:

- (1) The manuscript in question is original and has not been sent to another journal (and will not be), while its publication is being considered by the Brazilian Journal of Nutrition, whether in print or electronic format. This is an unpublished work, not having been published in another vehicle of dissemination in full or in part, not even work of substantially similar content of my authorship. All data in the article are legitimate and authentic.
- (2) I certify that I participated in the conception of the work to make public my responsibility for its content and that I have not omitted any links or funding agreements between authors and companies that may have an interest in the publication of this article. All people who collaborated with this study, but who do not meet the criteria for attribution of authorship, received due credit in the acknowledgment note, with written permission from the aforementioned authors.
- (3) I declare that there are no potential conflicts of interest that could influence the publication process and that the financial support received for the research has been acknowledged. I also agree to participate in the manuscript review process as a consultant when requested by the Brazilian Journal of Nutrition.
- (4) I declare that the ethical principles of research with humans and/or animals have been respected, under Brazilian legislation: Resolution No. 466/2012, Resolution No. 510/2016, and Law No. 11,794/2008. All documents related to compliance with ethical principles are being sent along with the manuscript, and there is a clear statement of compliance in the “Method” section.

- (5) I guarantee that the data reported in the article are not results of misconduct, namely: data produced, misuse of images (tables, graphs, charts, figures, scales, drawings, instruments, questionnaires, validation of methodologies, and other types of illustrations), falsification, plagiarism, self-plagiarism or duplicity, and that I am the sole author and copyright owner. I understand that if the article contains third-party material, prior permission is required to reproduce it. Nothing in the article infringes any copyright or intellectual property rights of others, otherwise, I will be fully liable for any damage caused to third parties, in all applicable administrative and legal spheres, under the strict terms of Law No. 9,610/98.
- (6) I agree with the Public Access and Copyright Policy adopted by the Brazilian Journal of Nutrition, which uses the Creative Commons License – CC BY, which allows others to distribute, remix, adapt and create from my work, even for commercial purposes, as long as you give proper credit for the original creation.
- (7) I agree that, in case of approval of the manuscript for publication, it will be translated into English (with authorization), and that the costs of the translation and/or revision will be entirely my responsibility, and this work must be carried out with translators certified and accredited by the Brazilian Journal of Nutrition.
